

November 8, 1999

I am writing to let you know how much I love the new Air Probe Sanitizer, that was installed five months ago. Up until I had this done, I was having three bouts a year with bronchitis. I am 72 years old, so my doctor was becoming concerned with my health, saying I could go into pneumonia. It had already been established that I am allergic to fungus and mold, dust, etc, so my doctor suggested my air conditioner might be the culprit. It was time for one of my unit checkups, so I was not surprised when the tech told me my air handler was a mess with fungus and mold and suggested that I have the sanitizer installed. I figured the cost would be well worth it, and I was right. I have been free and clear of my bronchial infection and do not expect to have another one. Thanks to clean air from my conditioner. One does not have an allergy to be affected by this fungus condition. It can and does cause an infection called legionall disease...Wanted you to know how happy I am with my new sanitizer units.

Sincerely,

Peggy W. Bradshaw